BELGARION'S SON ABDUCTED

PRINCE GERAN KIDNAPPED

By Lord Elsen of Boktor
The Sendarian Sentinel

Early this Spring Prince Geran of Riva was kidnapped by an evil Darshivian Grolim named Zandramas. At that time King Belgarion was in Jarviksholm, (Northern Drasnia) trying to get the Bear Cult under control after their uprising. After the news of his son's abduction Belgarion immediately returned home. After realizing that the Orb followed Prince Geran's trail they found that he was taken aboard a Nyssian ship. Figuring that his son was being taken to Nyssia Belgarath, Polgara, Durnick, Ce'Nedra and Silk decided to head that way too.

When they got to Nyssia they found out that Zandramas was about a month ahead of them. In Nyssia they also picked up a new member to their party: Sadi, former Chief Eunuch at Salmissra's Palace. From there they went to Cthol Murgos where they met King Urgit. Some rumor are circulating that say Urgit is Prince Kheldar's (Silk's) half brother, the mere thought of that fact is outrageous, but there isn't any evidence to prove it true or false.

Currently Belgarion and his friends are at Mal Zeth in Kal Zakath's Palace. Some say that King Belgarion and Kal Zakath have become friends, but a friendship between an Alorn and an Angarak seems quite impossible these days.

Next Saturday there will be an up-date on Belgarion's quest on page two.

The Rivan Queen Ce'Nedra,
Imperial Princess of Tolnedra.
Mother of Prince Geran and husband of King Belgarion.

Zandramas, The Child of Dark

EVIL GROLIM PRIESTESS

ZANDRAMAS: PRINCE GERAN'S ABDUCTOR

By Lord Gific of Erat
The Sendarian Sentinel

The Grolim Priestess Zandramas abducted Prince Geran of Riva early this Spring. Why she did this is not known, but since she is the Child of Dark her reasons must not be good. (The Child of Dark is a person manipulated by the Dark Prophecy, Belgarion is the Child of Light.)

Princess Xera of the Dryads witnessed Zandramas burn up a ship and all of it's crew with a wave of her hand, (she's a sorceress) so that no one could question them about her whereabouts. Zandramas is that evil.

Lady Polgara, while walking down a overgrown road in The Nyssian Jungle saw three bodies. All the bones in the arms and legs were broken, they had been left for they lions by Zandramas.

A sailor that transported Zandramas and was able to live said that her skin sparkled, and the sparkles seemed to move underneath her skin.

KING URGIT AND PRINCE KHELDAR:

ARE THEY REALLY BROTHERS?

Rumors are quickly spreading that say the famed and rich merchant Prince Kheldar of Drasnian and King Urgit of the Murgos are brothers. How is that possible? Prince Kheldar is the nephew of Queen Poren of Drasnian, and she definitely is not a Murgo, so he can't be either. Is King Urgit part Drasnian?

By the Editor, Lord Gazeebalt of Sendaria

Dear Gazeebalt,

I think that the mere notion of a Murgo King that is part Drasnian is crazy. The Murgos try very hard to keep their race pure to the last drop of blood. The rumors that are running around must have been started by one of Prince Kheldar's enemies to shame him, who would want to be related to a Murgo King, especially one of the Urga's! I have heard that King Urgit is a person that is shy, quiet and doesn't care about anything but killing Kal Zakath. Prince Kheldar on the other hand is smart, wants his opinion to be known and is very sneaky, their personalities are very different.

By Goodman Sherman of Sendaria

Lord Gazeebalt,

I think that it is very possible that Urgit and Silk are related. They look very similar, short with long noses that twitch when ever someone mentions the word "trade" or "money". Trust me, I would know, I have been a spy in the Murgo palace for more than eleven years, and I have also seen Prince Kheldar a number of times. Recently King Urgit has gotten a lot stronger in what he does. He no longer ever looks at what he is signing and often says "no" to his generals when he used to say "go ahead" or "whatever". They are probably brothers.

By Krickum Lafett of Drasnian

Dear Editor,

If it is true, that our king is part Drasnian he should definitely step down to someone who is all Murgo. He is a awful king in the first place, and I would be glad to have someone with a head that can think rather than one that is empty for a king. He only concentrates on killing Kal Zakath, the Emperor of Mallorea.

I have heard of Prince Kheldar, he's the typical Drasnian: A cheat, thief, liar, and spy. If it turns out that our king is related to that piece of scum I will personally make sure he ascends the throne.

THE MALLOREAN

A SERIES THAT YOU HAVE TO READ

By Sir Elorig of Arendia

This series is wonderful. It is full of action, adventure and mystery. It takes place in the 4000's, but to me it seems medieval. The characters are very realistic, except for the fact that some of them are sorcerers and sorceresses.

I recommend these books to anybody who reads at the eighth or ninth grade level and that likes fantasy/science fiction. If you like JK Rowling and Tamora Pierce, this series is definitely for you.

SENDARIAN SENTINEL ADVICE

Dear Sendarian Sentinel Advice,

Zandramas kidnapped my son, Prince Geran. Right now I am a prisoner in Kal Zakath's palace. My grandfather, (Belgarath) knows of a secret passage out of the palace but I don't want to be rude to Emperor Zakath. Zakath and I have become friends but he doesn't want me to leave. I want to go after my son, everyday he and Zandramas get farther and farther ahead of me. Should I sneak out of Zakath's palace and ruin our friendship, or stay here and let Geran get even farther ahead of me?

King Belgarion of Riva

Dear King Belgarion,

Your first priority is getting your son back right? If that is what you need to do, do it. Tell Zakath that if he doesn't let you go you'll leave yourself. If he still wants you to stay, just do as you threatened and leave. Instead of completely sneaking out of the palace, leave Zakath a note saying something like this: "I'm going after my son, I told you I would. I still want to be friends." That way you told him what you're doing and you don't want your friendship to die. He can't blame you for sneaking out when you told him that you were going to do just that.

If worse comes to worse you might just have to surrender your friendship to go after your son. If you can't escape you might have to force him to let you go by using sorcery, try to avoid that at all costs because a war between your kingdoms is possible.

KING BELGARION OF RIVA

AN INSIDE LOOK AT HIS LIFE

By Lord Dendrig of Erat
The Sendarian Sentinel

King Belgarion of Riva grew up on a farm here in Sendaria, owned by Goodman Faldor.

His parents died when he was a infant in their house which was set on fire by Asharak the Murgo. When Belgarion's, (he prefers to be called Garion) parents realized their fate they pushed their baby son out of an opening in the wall. Asharak, waiting for that to happen grabbed the infant Belgarion and started running away. Belgarath the Sorcerer pursued Asharak and took the baby Garion from him.

After that the famed Polgara the Sorceress, daughter of Belgarath became Garion's gardion and actually Polgara and Belgarath are related to Garion.

When Garion was a bit older Belgarath came to Polgara with pressing news: The Orb of Aldur, (the stone that was created by the god Aldur with a lot of power) was stolen from the fortress city of Riva by Zedar, on of the evil god Torak's diciples.

Belgarath, Polgara and Garion set out to pursue Zedar, picking up a bunch of friends along the way: The Earl of Trelheim, (Barak) Prince Kheldar of Drasnia, Goodman Durnick of Sendaria, Sir Mandorallen of Arendia, Lord Hetter of the Algar Clans, Relg of the Ulgos, Imperial Princess Ce'Nedra or Tolnedra, Taiba of Maragor and the young boy Errand.

When King Belgarion was young, he wasn't a Sorcerer. While on the quest to regain the the Orb he did his first act of Sorcery: He burned up Asharak the Murgo after finding out that her was the one who killed his parents. Belgarion didn't burn up Asharak with flint and steel, he did it with a wave of his hand, and one command, "burn".

After regaining the Orb of Aldur King Belgarion went to Riva where he found out that he was the only remaining Rivan Roalty, so he was crowed king and the guardian of the Orb.

When Belgarion read the Mrin Codex, written by the Mrin Prophet, Belgarion found that he was to go face the evil god Torak in combat. Sneaking out of the Rvan Palace with Belgarath, himself and Prince Kheldar, (Silk). They went to the City of Night, (Rak Cthol) where a ancient prophecy would be fulfilled.

Once Garion got to Rak Cthol torak was ready to fight. Making himself grow to the hieght of fifty feet Torak towered over Garion. But Garion, using sorcery matched his size. A vigorous fight followed, but eventually Garion prevailed becoming the first person ever to slay a god, aquiring a new title, The Godslayer.

After interveiwing Kail, the Rivan Warder who works at Riva and knows Belgarion quite well says that he is a great King, but sometimes gets tierd of his job.

Everyone I talked to in Riva says that Belgarion is a wonderful King and tries to get to know everyone of his subjects. One person even said this: He is the exact opposite of a tyrant.

A NEW CONCLUSION TO THE MALLOREAN

A NEW ENDING TO WHAT HAPPENED AT 'THE PLACE WHICH IS NO MORE'

By Duke Conser of Tol Honeth
The Sendarian Sentinel

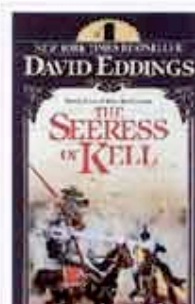

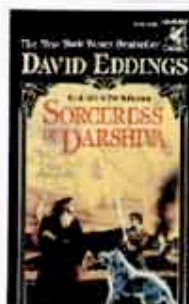

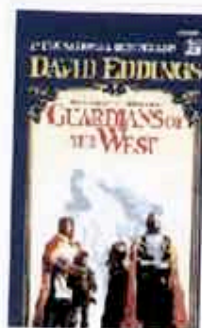

After walking into 'The Place Which is No More' Cyradis, the Seeress of Kell was stabbed in the back by one of Zandramas's Grolims. Ce'Nedra, taking Cyradis's place as the one to choose between the Dark and Light Prophecy choose her son, Geran the Child of Dark over Eriond, the Child of Light out of favoritism. The Sardion exploded at the instant Ce'Nedra made her choice, so Geran wasn't able to get his hands on the Sardion, or the Orb for that matter because Belgarion would't let him have it.

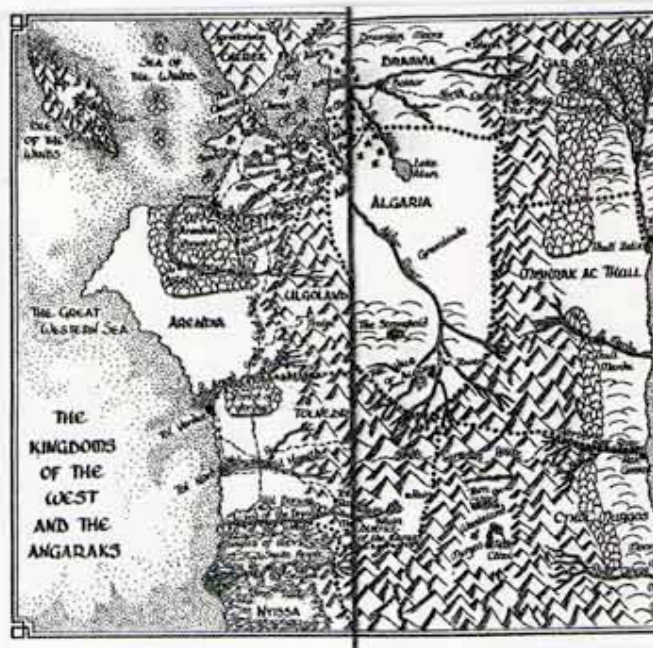

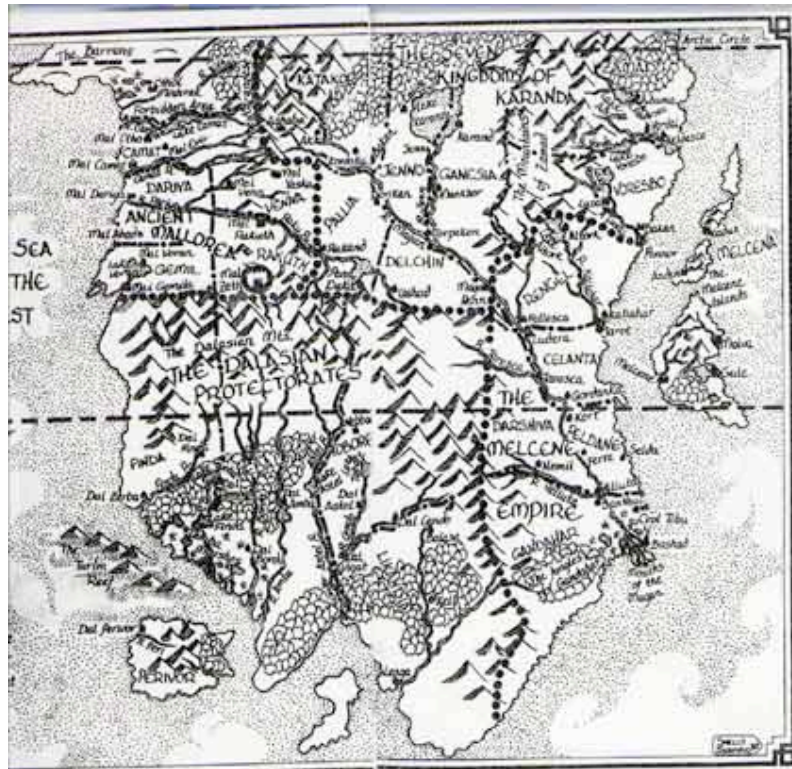

About a minute after Ce'Nedra made her choice Geran grew to twenty feet tall and started glowing a light blue, becoming a god. As foretold in the prophecy, all the other gods became mere human beings and Geran became god of the whole world. He was neither good not evil, just in-between. His people were content with him but liked their other gods better, but they didn't exist any more.

King Belgarion of Riva.
